Thank you—our Front Line Heroes—who are faithfully carrying out your mission in the midst of a once-in-a-lifetime pandemic and deepening economic crisis. We have been sharing our members’ inspiring stories to raise the visibility of the life-giving work that you do so that everyone can understand the impact you are achieving and sacrifices you are making. We compiled the stories into a digital booklet that we are sharing broadly. It’s not too late to share your stories with us—we are continuing to publish your stories, so please contact Caitlyn Gudmundsen to share your Front Line Hero stories with us.

Yet even heroes need new insights, inspiration, and perspectives—because no one person can make sense of all that is happening today. In navigating chaos, we often narrow our focus to what’s right in front of us; yet we know that to fulfill our mission in the long-term, we need to broaden our reach, challenge our assumptions and take in diverse perspectives.

Tomorrow we launch CEO Summit Series: 2020–2021, a virtual series of four leadership seminars designed to inspire, engage and enrich our CEOs. We’re engaging outstanding thought leaders from renowned corporate strategist, David Morey to CVS Health’s Chief Community Health Officer, Dr. Garth Graham, U.S. Chamber of Commerce Foundation President, Carolyn Cawley, Advocate Aurora Health President & CEO Jim Skogsbergh, and more.

Join your trusted colleagues from throughout the country where we can make meaning together of the ever-changing realities, understand the possibilities, and create the conditions to emerge stronger. Your mission and your work are more important and more needed than ever—and together we can thrive amidst the chaos.

In gratitude for all that you do,

Charlotte Haberaecker
President and CEO
