September 20, 2021

CEO Summit 2022: A Future Reimagined

Persistence. Resourcefulness. Tenacity.

These are but a few words to describe Lutheran social ministry the past 18 months as we face historic workforce shortages, a pandemic that we hoped would end by now, the impact of vaccine mandates, and more. At times, it can seem overwhelming to deal with day-to-day challenges and find time to reflect on how our organizations should pivot now to advance our mission in the future.

Yet, as Eric Gurley, President and CEO of Immanuel reminds us, “This is the moment that will define our organizations for the next 10 years. The actions we take now will define our foreseeable future.”

Join us for CEO Summit 2022: A Future Reimagined where we tackle today’s shared challenges and re-envision the future of our organizations. Engage with Nicolaj Siggelkow, the David M. Knott Professor of Management at the Wharton School, University of Pennsylvania and Co-Director at the Mack Institute for Innovation Management, on how leaders are creating new capacity, mobilizing competitive advantage, and transforming their organizations. Hear from your peers on how they are rethinking and pivoting their organizations and the actions they’re prioritizing now—recognizing that what was successful in the past may not be successful in the future.

Reimagining the future also means rethinking the workforce and strengthening boards of directors. All this and more in an environment where you are surrounded by peers who share your mission and values, who are going through what you are, and who don’t compete with you. A community of trust—where you are challenged with outside thinking and supported by your peers.

In gratitude for all that you do,
Charlotte Haberaecker
President and CEO